STATEMENTS ESTABLISHING UNINTENTIONAL DELAY

Dear Sir:

The undersigned received a telephone call on May 2, 2007, from Jim Dailes (571-272-8319) of the USPTO indicating that an office action mailed June 21, 2006, requiring restriction of claims and election of species was not responded to.

The undersigned did not receive a notice of abandonment relating to this office action and did not know that a response was overdue. The undersigned obtained the office action of June 21, 2006, from the PTO web site after the telephone call from Jim Dailes.

The undersigned operates with a "reporting/response stack" of application files that require reporting to the client and a response or other action to the USPTO. The above application file was not in the "reporting/response stack". Upon reviewing the application file in the file drawer, the undersigned did not locate the office action of June 21, 2006, in the application file and thus believes the office action was misfiled or misplaced with other application files or papers.

As a result of the above circumstances, the undersigned did not forward the office action to the representative of the Applicant's assignee in Germany pursuant to the usual procedure such that neither the German representative, Applicant, nor the Applicant's assignee was aware of the office action and of the need to respond to it by making an election of claims and species for further prosecution.

Upon reviewing a calendar docketing record, the undersigned discovered an entry for a continuation application on the docketing record of an office action due July 21, 2006, indicating it had been received, but which entry had been unintentionally mistakenly crossed-out to indicate that it had been dealt with as other entries had been crossed-out, when it had not. The undersigned's mistake may have occurred when adjacent docket entries for the same client were crossed-out as completed.

As a result of the above circumstances, the undersigned unintentionally mistakenly did not forward the office action to the representative of the Applicant's assignee pursuant to the usual procedure such that neither the German representative, Applicant, nor the Applicant's assignee was aware of the office action and of the need to respond to it and did not respond to the office action.

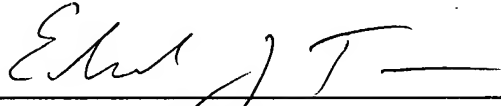

The entire delay in filing of the required response from the due date until the filing of this petition thus was unintentional on the undersigned's part, the Applicant's part, and the assignee's part.

Prior to the office action of June 21, 2006, Applicant had filed an IDS on August 8, 2005, and correction of the filing receipt and an IDS on April 20, 2004, indicating Applicant's intent to prosecute this application.

Applicant respectfully requests that the above application be revived. Favorable action is requested.

Respectfully submitted,
